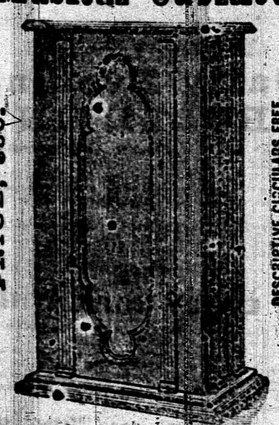
THE NEEDHAM
Musical Cabinet



THIS new and wonderful Instrument enables any one, whether understanding music or not, to play any desired melody or harmony sacred or secular, from the most plaintive dirge to the most lively dance music. It possesses a mechanism of marvelous simplicity, requiring but the intelligence of a child to manipulate, yet capable of reproducing, without limitation, the musical compositions of the PAST, PRESENT and FUTURE. The execution is faultless, strict in melody, harmony and rhythm, and the instrument is eminently adapted for Sunday Schools, prayer and revival meetings, home devotional exercises, and in all cases where good, correct music is required, and no musician is at hand to perform. JESSE POMEROY.

How the Boy Murderer is taken Care of in the Massachusetts Penitentiary.

Probably there is more curiosity concerning the prison career of Jesse Pomeroy than any other convict in the institution. His atrocities are known the world over, and hundreds make the vain visit to the prison to get a sight at him. Indeed, scarcely a visitor appears here but who asks for the privilege, and, strange as it may seem, the most importunate and persistent of these are found among the lady visitors. It is no uncommon thing for the Warden to be importuned for half an hour at a time by a delegation of these philanthropic females, and, finding that their pleadings are useless, they go off in a rage, publicly declaring inwardly that Pomeroy is a saint and angel in comparison with General Chamberlain. This singular phenomenon of a dead and buried crime is even more sensational since his incarceration for life in a lonely cell, than he was in the palmy days of his atrocities. He has, to all become quite an exemplary young man, and is evidently determined upon acquiring a thoroughly classical education. He now passes his time by himself in a cell in that part of the prison known as the "Upper Arch," out of the sight of everything and everybody and the only sounds which greet his ears are the whistles of the passing locomotives and rumbling of the trains. Three times a day only is this solitude broken by the appearance of a keeper with his meals and then not a word passes between them. It should be added, in qualification, however, that the Chaplain visits him occasionally, and also that his mother and brother are allowed interviews with him every three months. This is in accordance with the general rules of the prison, all of which are applicable to Pomeroy, with the terrible exception that his confinement is to be solitary during his natural life. During the regular working hours he is employed in making shoe brushes, but in this respect he is not the most profitable convict in the prison. He seems to have taken to literature rather than to the mechanic arts, and spends much of his time in the acquisition of knowledge. So far as the English branches go he is already master, and has now attacked Latin, French and German, and is making astonishing progress in all three of them. If it were not for the conditions which forbid his mingling with the rest of the prisoners it would not be a bad idea to make him "Professor of Languages" of the institution. He writes a letter to his mother every week, and receives one from her regularly in return. The poor woman brings over her communication every Saturday, and invariably finds one awaiting her. The letters which the young murderer writes are marvels in the way of parental correspondence, and some of his descriptions of his lonely life are characterized by a sadness which is indeed harrowing. He never makes any reference to his crimes, and when questioned by the officers about the multitude of murders and outrages which he has committed, he invariably answers that he knows nothing whatever about them. He has always shown a great affection for his mother, and her devotion for him has shown her to possess those natural instincts which are the charm of pure womanhood. She seems to be an exemplary woman in every aspect, never complaining, but always anxious, and has the condolence and sympathy of every officer of the prison, as she should indeed of the whole community.—Boston Globe.

CHILDREN'S PARTIES.—Children's parties often prepare the way for children's funerals. The English health officer for Marylebone, in his report on the sanitary condition of the parish in December condemns the pernicious practice of giving children's parties during the holidays. He thinks that such gatherings afford the parents more enjoyment than the children, and that they are not unfrequently the means by which infectious diseases, and notably whooping cough, are spread. A lady recently gave a children's party in the parish, and among the fifteen or sixteen little ones present there was a lad who was observed to cough violently. Twelve children and two nurse girls, who were in the party at the time, caught the disease of whooping cough from him, and in two instances death resulted.

WHAT TO DO FOR CROUP.—Hall's Journal of Health says: Croup is so common a disease among children that it requires no description; it affects the windpipe. As it attacks suddenly, most often in the night, and as an hour's time may be all the difference between life and death, it is proper to state the most reliable course to be pursued until a physician be obtained. 1st. Keep the feet warm by having a jug of hot water kept against them; let them also be well wrapped up in woolen flannel. 2d. Have a bucket of water almost as hot as the hand can bear. Have two pieces of woolen flannel of several thicknesses, one being on the throat while the other is in hot water, renew every two or three minutes, until relief is given or the physician arrives.—The water in the bucket must be kept hot by the constant addition of boiling water.

An Atlanta gentleman proposes a nobby banquet. He will invite ten persons. There will be ten meat dishes—turkey, goose, quail, duck, sheep, hog, beef, chicken, venison and fish. One of these dishes will be placed before each guest, who will deliver a ten minutes' eulogy on the animal represented.

A grocery man down in Augusta, Me., announces by placard that he has for sale "niggers, towbacks, and ballony sawsig," and we are willing to bet he is the man who writes communications to the local paper, growling about the oppressive "skull tax."

"You will observe," said the host, as he showed a visitor through the house, "you will observe that we have two halls." "Yes," said the guest—he was a book-keeper—"I am glad to see you live on the double entry plan."

Many men think they are supporting a newspaper, when in fact they only owe the printer.

About one couple in sixteen married in Vermont are divorced.

Where there's a will there's a plea of insanity.

WHIRLPOOLS.

It is amusing to see how many "Mrs. Proudies" there are in Washington. And it is—not—amusing to see how many nice little wives and good, plain mothers are spoiled by a taste of gayety in our Republican Capital. One member's wife, when she came here first, a few months ago, was really homesick for her little village. But after the cards came in to her, and she began to realize that she was the wife of a member of Congress, what ails the country mite took on herself. Ladies whose claim to distinction rested upon the innate refinement and intelligence, and rest upon the accidental position of their husbands, were passed unnoticed save by the faintest smiling inclination; and the grade or rank of a lady's husband could have been told by a looker-on by the warmth or coolness with which the wife of a new member welcomed them. The change in the toilet of the lady was marked. Her eye eagerly ran over the dresses of her acquaintance. From a modest lady in a plain black silk and smooth brown looks she burst into the less distingue style of light satin and bare shoulders, and pyramid-shaped head with the surrounding thatch of frizzes which hides the broad, beautiful brow, and makes every woman look like an idiot. The daily trips to her hired cab every day, and gives her orders to the coachman with an air, fault-finding tone, which she, poor soul, does not know indicates her newness to the luxury of a hired team and livery. Her days are a round of ceaseless, meaningless toadyism; her nights wild revels, where neither sense nor comfort ever shows its plain, old-fashioned faces. This woman, before her husband's election, would have sat up with her neighbor's sick child. She would have made its tiny grave clothes and put flowers in its dead hands, the while her eyes were misty with sympathy. But now she is spoiled for everything. She will fly her round, fritter away her day, drop out of life, and not a ripple on the tide of fashionable society will show where she has gone down. The wheels of folly roll round forever here. There are half naked women crushed in the cram with semi-respectable people, men and women. There are champagne, and punch, and lobsters, and flowers; ruined toilets, lost tempers, and, finally, disappointment and remorse.—Correspondence Chicago Times.

Things to be Avoided.

There are many ways in which we can annoy our friends without intending to do so. A few of these are easily stated. Never call upon people out of season—in business hours. Idle persons are apt to have too little consideration for those who are busy. Call upon business people on business in business hours, but not for a long friendly chat on matters and things in general. Call upon your neighbors in their homes at such hours as they will be prepared to receive you, and not before they are down stairs in the morning, or while they are at dinner, or just as they are going to bed. Never stop people upon the street, if they appear to be in a hurry, and buttonhole them for ten or twenty minutes. Neither is it good taste when you see two persons engaged in a pleasant talk, to step in and enter upon miscellaneous conversation. A man or woman has instinct to know at once when his presence is desired and when it is a nuisance. It is also a great impertinence to strike in with something entirely foreign to the subject when one is in the midst of a story or a statement, or an argument, and to persist in talking about "this, that, and every thing" to one who is trying to read the morning paper, or a book, or anything else. When ever a man is absorbed that he does not care to reply to what you say, it is time to stop talking. There are a legion of other annoyances, equally trying: Carelessness in keeping appointments; keeping other people waiting your own convenience; coming in late to church, or the concert, or the lecture, and always in creaking boots; delay in answering important letters; borrowing new books from the owner before he has time to read them, and returning the same at a late date, perhaps never; scribbling foolish comments on the margin; always depending upon a neighbor for a sight of the weekly or daily paper when you are as well able to pay for it as he is; learning to play on musical instruments in the full hearing of nervous and sensitive people. But we may as well stop here. From your own experience you can complete the list.—Chicago Ledger.

Some of the monasteries of Italy and France have sent curious inventions to the Paris Exhibition. A Florentine friar has constructed a watch only a quarter of an inch in diameter. It has not only a third hand to mark the seconds, but a microscopic dial which indicates the days of the week and month and the proper dates. It also contains an alarm, and on its front cover an ingeniously cut figure of St. Francis of Assisi. On the back cover two verses of the Te Deum are distinctly cut. A monastery in Brittany, France, will contribute a plain looking mahogany table, with an inlaid draughts or chess board on the surface. The inventor sets the piece for a game of chess, and sits alone at one side of the board. He plays cautiously, and the opposite pieces move automatically, and sometimes checkmate him. There is no mechanism apparent beneath the table-top, which seems to be a solid mahogany board.

"What is your chief consolation in life?" asked a pastor of a young lady in a Bible class. The young lady blushed and hesitated but said: "I don't like to tell you his name, but I have no objection to telling you where he lives."

"What is the meaning of a backbiter?" asked a gentleman at a Sunday-school examination. This was a puzzler. It went down the class until it came to a simple urchin, who said, "Perhaps it's a flea."

It is said that a little kerosene mixed with starch will give linen a nice glaze. Who has tried it?

Time is money; of course it is, or how could you "spend an evening."

New Hampshire in the Olden Time.

The settlement of Concord was nearly one hundred years later than that of Dover, Portsmouth, Hampton, and other seacoast towns, dating in fact as late as 1727, and yet old Puritan customs were brought thither from Massachusetts, and long held sway over the people. Everything which had the appearance of levity even in the beginning of the eighteenth century, was discarded by the pilgrims. The drinking of healths and the use of tobacco were forbidden the former being considered a heathenish and idolatrous practice, grounded on libations, the other as a species of intoxication. Laws were instituted to regulate social intercourse between the sexes, and the advances toward matrimony. Pride and ostentation came under the cognizance of the magistrate. Modes of dress, cut of hair, manner of speech, style of speech, style of carriage and bearing, hours of rising in the morning and retiring at night, too rapid driving on the roads, too loud, prolonged or frequent laughter, bad conduct on the Lord's day, and a thousand other things not regarded now as coming under the jurisdiction of the civil magistrate were made subjects of municipal regulations. Women were forbidden to expose their arms or shoulders in view. Sleeves of gowns were to reach the wrist, and the neck was to close. Men were required to cut their hair short, so as not to resemble the other sex. No person not worth over two hundred pounds was allowed to wear gold or silver lace, silk hoods, or embroidered scarfs.

The ordinary food of the early settlers here for both breakfast and supper was bean porridge, with bread and butter.—On Sunday morning there was coffee in addition. Brown bread made of "rye and Indian," was the staff of life, white bread being used only when guests were present. Baked pumpkins and milk composed a dish said to have been luxurious. For dinner twice every week, Sundays and Thursdays, baked beans and baked Indian pudding, the latter being served first; Saturdays, salt fish, one day in every week salt pork and corned beef, and one day, also, roasted meat was the rule.

The ancient dress of the man was a woolen coat striped woolen frock, tow or leather breeches tied or buckled at the knee, and cowhide shoes with leathern buckskins. Sunday hats were three cornered kept in a wooden box, and made to last a lifetime. The dress of the woman consisted of chemises, petticoats tow gowns, tows, thick woolen stockings and cowhide shoes.

FAMILY AFFECTION.—I can imagine no condition that carries with it such a promise of joy as the former in the autumn; with his cellar full, with every preparation made for the winter, with the prospect of three months comfort and rest, three months of fireside and content, three months of home and family, three months of pure solid comfort. Make your house comfortable. Do not huddle together in a little room around a red-hot stove, with every window fastened down. Do not live in this poisoned air, and then when one of your children dies, put a piece in the paper commencing with "Whereas, It hath pleased Providence to remove from our midst———" Have plenty of air and plenty of warmth. Let your children sleep. Do not drag them from their beds in the darkness of night. Treat them with infinite kindness. There is no happiness in a house not filled with love; where a man hates the wife, or the wife the husband; where children fear their parents, or where parents dislike their children. Every such home is simply a hell upon earth.—There is no reason why farmers should not be refined and kind. There is nothing in the cultivation of the soil to make men gross, crabbed and unjust. To look upon the sunny slope covered with daisies does not tend to make men cruel.—Whoever labors for the happiness of those he loves elevates himself, no matter whether he works in the shop or plows in the perfumed fields.

A short time ago, says the Journal of Chemistry, an only daughter of a physician in Cambridge died, with symptoms of the perforation of the bowels. It was found that an orange seed was lodged in the appendage called "appendix cæci vermiformis," which is about the size of a goose quill. This produced a perforating ulcer that allowed the escape of the intestinal contents. Inflammation ensued that could not be controlled.—No doubt thousands of orange seeds are daily swallowed, but this case shows the need of caution, and the tremendous power that resides in our food for evil as well as good.

Three Irishmen, who had dug a ditch for four dollars, were quite at a loss to know how to divide the pay "equally." But one of the number had been to school, and reached division in arithmetic, so it was left to him. He did it at once, saying; "It's easy enough. Sure there's two for you two, and two for me, too." The two received their portion, with a greatly increased respect for the advantages which learning gives a man.

The fashion reporter who wrote with reference to a belle: "Her dainty feet were encased in shoes that might be taken for fairy boots" tied his wardrobe up in a handkerchief and left for parts unknown when it appeared next morning: "Her dirty feet were encased in shoes that might be taken for ferry boats."

The phonograph may bottle up the voice and pass it down to future ages; but the smile that twists the face of a man as he seeks solitude, and gazes upon his name in print for the first time, will always have to be guessed at.

Some philosophers say that we have no innate ideas, but no one has yet been bold enough to declare that the love of gossip is not innate.

THE CHRONICLE.

SATURDAY, MAY 25, 1878.

County Official Press.

Firemen.

The following amendments to the Code will be of interest to the noble firemen of Alpine's Capital, and to the few exempt members of the old Sacramento Fire Department now residents of Alpine county:

Section 1. Section 3,335 of the Political Code is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Sec. 3,335. Fire companies in incorporated cities and towns are formed and organized under special laws or under authority conferred upon the city or town governments. Those in incorporated towns and villages are organized by filing with the Recorder of the county in which they are located a certificate in writing signed by the Foreman or presiding officer and Secretary, setting forth the date of the organization, name, officers and roll of active and honorary members, which certificate and filing must be renewed every six months.—There shall not be allowed to any such cities, towns or villages more than one company for each one thousand inhabitants, but one company shall be allowed in any city, town or village where the population is less than one thousand.

There shall not be allowed to any engine company more than sixty five certificate members; to any hook and ladder company more than sixty five certificate members; to any hose company more than twenty-five certificate members.

Sec. 2. Section 3,337 is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Sec. 3,337. The officers and members of unpaid fire companies regularly organized, and exempt firemen are entitled to the following privileges and exemption, viz.: Exemption from payment of poll tax, road tax and head tax of every description; from jury duty; exemption from military duty, except in case of war, invasion or insurrection.

The passage of a law making such exemptions was an outrage on the interests of the people of this State, as it will prevent thousands of dollars flowing into the School Fund of many of our counties. While the volunteer fire departments were in full feather in San Francisco, Sacramento, and other large places, the members spent their money freely to keep up their organization, and gave their time and risked their lives in the performance of arduous and hazardous duty for no public compensation other than an exemption from military and jury duty, and it strikes us that the firemen of these times ought to be thankful for the same exemption, and not ask for greater privileges.

PROFESSIONALS.—If the Constitutional Convention is to be composed entirely of lawyers, can the people of this State hope for the needed reforms under a new Constitution? It is necessary and important that a few able lawyers should be elected to that Convention, but it will be ruinous to the interests of the masses if none but professionals are sent to Sacramento to make a new Constitution.—At San Francisco that "nominating committee" selected all lawyers, but one; and in Nevada county the "non partisan" convention selected none but members of the legal profession to represent that county; and so it seems to be going all through the State. It is one thing to get a nomination, and yet another to get elected, and if the lawyers are bent on "hogging" the whole thing the new Workingmen's party may have more to say in the Convention than it might if the legal profession would be a little more modest.

BATES' ADVERTISING AGENCY.—The old firm of Bates & Locke, advertising agents, New York, has been dissolved, Mr. Locke, the well known "Nasby" retiring from the business, which will be continued by J. H. Bates, 41 Park Row, New York, he being one of the pioneers in the business. Mr. Bates has an office in the Times building, where will be found on file a copy of each issue of not less than 6,500 newspapers, among which the CHRONICLE will always be found by our friends who may be visiting New York.

An interesting postal decision has just been rendered by the Assistant Attorney General in the case of John J. Kiernan, of New York, who has been collecting mail for about 400 merchants and brokers and delivering it at the postoffice or postal car competes with the United States and is liable to a $100 fine.

Captain Ericsson, the inventor of turret iron clads, or monitors, has now invented a marine torpedo that will knock the bottoms out of them. Now it is in order for the Captain to invent something to knock his torpedo into smithereens.

The gold production in Victoria, Australia, has been steadily decreasing ever since 1866, when the yield amounted to 1,536,581 ounces and the number of miners was 73,749; diminished to 792,839 ounces in 1877 with but 38,882 miners.

The Ecuador Constitutional Convention has adopted a very illiberal Constitution. Religious toleration is denied and the country is completely subjected to priestly rule.

The centennial anniversary of the battle of Monmouth will be celebrated by the patriots of New Jersey on the 28th of June.

Constitutional.

The Non-Partisan Convention of the Second Congressional District convened at Sacramento on Monday and made excellent nominations of delegates at large from this District to the Constitutional Convention. The candidates were selected equally from the two great parties—four Republicans and four Democrats. Alameda and Sacramento were each favored with two candidates, ex-Governor Haight, Democrat, and ex-U. S. District Attorney Walter Van Dyke, Republican, both attorneys, from Alameda; and Hon. Henry Edgerton, attorney, and Ex-Sheriff Larue, farmer, from Sacramento—the former a Republican, the latter a Democrat. The other candidates are Rufus Shoemaker, late editor of the Grass Valley Union, of Nevada, Democrat; Judge Hale, of Placer, and J. M. Porter, of Amador, Republicans, and J. M. Hall, of San Joaquin, Democrat. These are all good men, and if the other Districts and counties make as good nominations the approaching Convention will be a credit to our State—if we should be so fortunate as to elect all the good men, which is very doubtful.

Many Southern and Northern Democrats are receiving earnest letters from their constituents, deprecating the reopening of the question of the President's title, and regretting that any action should be taken by them calculated to add to the present financial distress.

NEW TO-DAY.

TO TEACHERS.

THE REGULAR SEMI-ANNUAL EXAMination of teachers of schools for Alpine county will be held at Silver Mountain, on June 27th, 27th, and 28th, 1878. All persons intending to teach in Alpine county, not already qualified according to law, will take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

SELECT LIST OF

LOCAL NEWSPAPERS

Many persons suppose this list to be composed of CHEAP, low-priced newspapers. The fact is quite otherwise. The Catalogue states exactly what the papers are. When the name of a paper is printed in FULL FACE TYPE it is in every instance the best paper in the place. When printed in CAPITALS it is the ONLY paper in the place. When printed in roman letters it is neither the best nor the only paper, but is usually a very good one, notwithstanding. The list gives the population of every town and the circulation of every paper. IT IS NOT A CO-OPERATIVE LIST. IT IS NOT A CHEAP LIST. At the foot of the Catalogue for each State the important towns which are not covered by the list are enumerated. IT IS AN HONEST LIST. The rates charged for advertising are barely one-fifth the publishers' schedule. The price for one inch four weeks in the entire list is $635. The regular rates of the papers for the same space and time are $3,136 35. The list includes 970 newspapers, of which 163 are issued DAILY and 807 WEEKLY. They are located in 825 different cities and towns, of which 22 are State Capitals; 328 places of over 5,000 population, and 444 County seats. DOWN WITH THE GRABBERS!

No More Swindling.

No More Extortion.

IT NOW LIES WITHIN THE reach of every hard-working Farmer, Miner, or Mechanic to obtain his necessities at their real value, and quit enriching the grabbing and unscrupulous storekeepers, who do not hesitate to take the last penny from a hard-working man, woman or child.

The Mechanics' Store

Whose reputation for straightforwardness and square dealing is known far and wide, and needs no further comment. Employs an army of clerks for the sole purpose of filling country orders, and thousands living outside of Sacramento avail themselves of this chance; do all their buying by sending orders direct to the Mechanics' Store, and thereby avoid paying enormous prices to the merciless grabbers who infest every city and town on the coast.

The method upon which the Mechanics' Store is conducted is universally known; yet, for the benefit of some who may not know, we will here repeat them. They are as follows:

Every article in the house is bought at the lowest market rates, to which only a small profit is added. The price once fixed is marked in plain figures on every article and never deviated from, thus giving the poor judge of goods a chance to buy his wants as low as the most expert buyer.

NOTHING IS MISREPRESENTED.

NO FAULTS ARE CONCEALED.

All are treated alike—a person living 500 miles away, sending an order, obtain the goods at precisely the same prices as customers who are present to select for themselves.

All goods are cheerfully exchanged, and in cases where nothing suitable can be found the money is willingly refunded.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

RETICENT.—The El Dorado Republican makes no mention of the withdrawal of Hon. Thomas Fraser as a nominee for the Constitutional Convention, and it is also silent as regards the nomination of Judge Griffith to the supposed vacancy. We men "up in the clouds" would like to hear from the lower regions. If Brother Davis is so mad at Larkin and Selkirk, and that "other man," that he don't care whether school keeps or not, perhaps his devil will enlighten us.

NON-PARTISAN COMMITTEE.—The non-partisan Second District Congressional Convention held at Sacramento on Monday last, appointed Judge Griffith, Republican, and W. W. Harvey, Democrat, to represent Alpine on the non-partisan Central Committee.

TEACHERS' EXAMINATION.—The semi-annual examination will take place at Silver Mountain on June 26, 27th and 28th. Superintendent Anna L. Spencer, and Misses Carpenter and Clearley constitute the Board of Examiners. See advertisement under "New To Day."

DISTRICT DEPUTY.—At the late session of the Grand Lodge I. O. O. F. held at San Francisco D. R. Hawkins, of Webster Lodge No. 119, of Markleeville, was appointed District Grand Master.

ADVANCE.—Good ore continues to be taken out of the north drift. Two concentrators arrived at the mill on Thursday last, and are being placed in position; and more are to be added.

RAIN.—On Sunday night and Monday last the northern section of this county was favored with a heavy fall of rain, which gave great satisfaction to the farmers.

EVERETT SCHOOL.—This school was opened, at Monitor, on Wednesday last under charge of Miss Cearley, of Niles' Station, Alameda county.

BIG TREES ROAD.—During the past ten days several parties passed over this road. On Saturday last the snow on the summits was six feet deep.

DOUBLE STANDARD.—On Monday evening last work was stopped at the mill and mine. The suspension is temporary.

FINANCIAL REPORT.—The County Treasurer's Quarterly Report will be found in another column.

DELINQUENT TAXES.—Sheriff has further postponed the delidquent tax sales until June 25th.

A JUST JUDGE.—The people of this judicial district are to be congratulated upon the possession of a just judge in the person of Hon. Theron Reed. At the term of the District Court which has recently expired, several decisions were given in relation to disputed land titles in Bodie, and most of them have given general satisfaction. The general tenor of these decisions is that a title to or party does not depend entirely upon a man's ability to stand by it with a double-barreled shot gun, prepared to blow off the head of the first intruder. If a person takes a fancy for a piece of property, he must first take the trouble to find out if some other person does not own it before taking possession. This is practically Judge Reed's decision, and it seems good law and good common sense. Capital can safely be invested in a place where such law is held and enforced.—Bodie Standard.

In referring to the above the Carson Tribune says:

"All who have the honor of the acquaintance of the gentleman referred to will be pleased to read this just tribute to his worth. For many years Judge Reed has held the position of District Judge, and we were informed at the California State Capital that no man stands higher on the records of the Supreme Court than Hon. Theron Reed.—Moreover, he is a pleasant companion, a fine lawyer and as independent as a prince."

We indorse the above. Judge Reed has given general satisfaction in Alpine, his decisions being just, and we doubt not our county would give him a cordial support should he be a candidate for re-election.

The House Committee on Elections has agreed to recommend the passage of Representative Wigginton's bill, providing for a postponement of the election for members of the Forty sixth Congress in California until the first Wednesday of September, 1879, the date of the next general election in that State.

FOR BOYS AND GIRLS.—The American Young Folks is a useful and entertaining paper published monthly at 50 cents a year by J. K. Hudson, at Topeka, Kansas. Every family should take it.

The yacht Mohawk, which capsized in New York harbor 2 years ago, whereby several lives were lost, has been sold to the Russians. She originally cost $175,000 but was sold for scarcely one-tenth of that sum.

John Roach has sent Dom Pedro one of Edison's phonographs. It went by the City of Rio de Janeiro, the first of his steamers on the Brazilian line, which sailed from New York last week. The instrument was charged before its departure with an address from Mr. Roach to the Emperor, exchanging compliments and congratulations in view of the establishment of the new line, and is the first instance of the use of the phonograph for such a purpose.

Bald Mountain N. C. was shaken as by an earthquake on the 17th, and literally split in twain, leaving a chasm 300 feet in length, eight or ten wide, of an unknown depth. No smoke or lava was thrown up, but a strong smell of sulphur pervades the place.

SATURDAY, MAY 25, 1878.

POTTERY IN NEW JERSEY.

The report of Dr. George H. Cook, State Geologist of New Jersey (Trenton, 1878), on the clay deposits of that State, is a volume of unusual interest. The pottery industries of our country are becoming of great importance, and New Jersey is rapidly taking the lead of the other States in this department of useful art. The report for 1874 gave some estimates which serve to show something of the nature and extent of the business. It was estimated that 265,000 tons of fire clay are annually dug at Woodbridge, Perth Amboy, and South Amboy, and sold for the making of brick pottery, pipe, retorts, crucibles, facing for wall paper, alum, etc., at prices varying from $1.50 to $15 a ton, and realizing annually about $927,500. This is for the clay alone. The manufactures from this clay are among the most interesting and promising in the State. Trenton had in 1874 twelve potteries, employing about 1,000 men and 1,000 women and boys, turning out wares annually of the value of $1,500,000. These industries have not seemed to flag during the hard times. The present report gives no satisfaction of later date, but informs us that about three-fourths of the pottery industry of the United States represented in the United States Potters' Association is in the works at Trenton. The total value of potteries of American fabric sold in 1870 is placed at $2,993,000, and the total wages paid for labor in the same year at $1,110,000. These sums do not include potteries not represented in the Association. The wares are chiefly of the ordinary classes of plain useful articles, known under the general denomination of earthen and stone wares. The total consumption of potteries and porcelain in the United States for the same year was stated by the Potters' Association to be:

Imported wares of all kinds	$4,112,953
Made in the United States	2,993,000
Total	$7,105,953

From this it appears that more than two-fifths of the total amount consumed was of American manufacture. None of the American production is of the class commonly called beautiful or artistic ware. Very little of it, we presume, is decorated at all.

GERMAN WIVES.—The culinary art forms a part of the education of women in Germany. The well-to-do tradesman like the mechanic, takes pride in seeing his daughters good housekeepers. To effect this object the girl on leaving school, which she does when about fourteen years of age, goes through the ceremony of confirmation, and then is placed by her parents with a country gentleman or in a large family, where, she remains one or two years, filling what may also be termed the post of servant, or doing the work of one. This is looked upon as an apprenticeship in domestic economy. She differs from a servant, however, in this—she receives no wages; on the contrary her parents often pay for the care taken of her, as well as her clothing. This is the first step in her education as housekeeper.—She next passes, on the same conditions, into the kitchen of a rich private family, or into that of a hotel of good repute.—Here she has control of the expenditures of the servants employed in it, and assists personally in the cooking, but is always addressed as Miss, and is treated by the family with deference and consideration. Many daughters of wealthy families receive similar training, with this difference, however, that they receive it in a princely mansion or a royal palace. There is a reigning Queen in Germany at the present time who was educated in this way. Consequently the women in Germany, are perfect models in economy.

PRAISE YOUR WIFE.—Praise your wife man; for pity's sake give her a little encouragement; it won't hurt her. She made your home comfortable, your heart bright and shining; food agreeable—for pity's sake tell her you thank her, if nothing more. She don't expect it; it will make her eyes open wider than they have these ten years, but it will do her good, and you too. There are many women to-day thirsting for words of praise the language of encouragement.—Through Summer's heat, through Winter's toil, they have drudged uncomplainingly; and so accustomed have their fathers, brothers and husbands become to their monotonous labors, that they look for and upon them as they do the daily rising of the sun, and its daily going down. Home every day may be made beautiful by an appreciation of its holiness. You know, if you can take a clean shirt from your drawer when you want it, that somebody's fingers have ached in the toil of making it fresh and agreeable, so smooth and lustrous.

COAL TAR FOR FLESH WOUNDS.—Mr. P. D. Curtis informs the New York Tribune of what he considers the best application for any and all flesh-cuts and raw sores. It is gas coal-tar, which may be had at any gas works where gas is made from coal. A barrel of it, costing $2, has been in use at the Kirby Homestead for ten years and is not half gone yet.—Coal tar, when applied to a flesh-cut, shuts out the air and thus stops the smarting; it will also keep off the flies; it is very healing, and it is antiseptic, that is, cleansing, and will prevent the growth of proud flesh. It is the cheapest, most healing and best application we have ever used. I have tested this remedy for several years on all sorts of cuts and sores with the most gratifying and successful results. It was an experiment at first, but now it is a necessity.

"Do you know," remarked a rather fast Newark youth the other day, to a stuttering friend, to whom he was slightly indebted, "Do you know that I intend to marry and settle down?" "I do-don't know anything about it," was the reply; "bu-but I think you had b-better stay single and settle up."

"What's your occupation, bub?" asked a visitor at the Capitol of a bright boy whom he met in the corridor. The boy happened to be a page in the House. "I am running for Congress, sir," he replied.

When Freedom from her mountain height, unfurled her standard to the air, she little thought that naughty men, would advertise hop bitters there.

It is said that onions will prevent the lips from chapping. It will certainly keep the chaps from the girls' lips.
